ABSTRACT: One of the current crimes of Iran society is the crimes against public decency that family has the main role. The present research has been performed to study the temporary marriage in the social prevention of the crimes against public decency. The main question of this study is to investigate whether the temporary marriage can reduce crimes against public decency? The population includes all people who had temporary marriage and the statistical sample is 200 persons who have been selected by available sampling. The instrument of this research is a questionnaire made by researcher that has the acceptable validity and reliability. The methods of statistical analysis include mean, standard deviation, chi – square test, one – cities. The main purpose of this research is to explain temporary marriage as one predictive role in the crime area that... finally, it has been identified that there is a direct relationship between temporary marriage and pretention of crime against public decency. The level of this relationship is height, we can benefit by mare precise planning and promotion of this in the preventive area.

INTRODUCTION

Temporary marriage is a Islamic principle that has benefits at the special conditions, this marriage like permanent marriage has conditions that we must conduct according to the rules and principle, unless we face to problem. Temporary marriage is one important issue that Shiite jurisprudence has paid attention to it.

Is eight times at different communities. Sexual perversion, drinking, drug addiction, smoking, murder, theft, political diversions and even diving accidents among single people are multi-times than married ones, as well as a variety of sexual diseases like syphilis, gonorrhea, AIDs and so an and mental diseases such as depression, anxiety. Among single people is higher than married people.

The overall objective:

The overall objective of this research is to explain temporary marriage as preventive role in crime area.

Research hypotheses:

1. There is a significant relationship between temporary marriage and the prevention of the crimes against public decency.
2. There is a significant different between the people who experienced temporary marriage and the people who didn't have temporary marriage according to committing crimes of crimes.

Public decency crimes:

Public decency crimes: all the actions that carries out against the legal rights of family, crimes that undermine the family survival and sanctity (such as: adultery and incest), crimes that threat family preservation and dignity (such as defamation, spreading lies and adultery rape), crimes that that undermine the stability of family relations (such as leave of charity.) and crimes that have negative effect an parentage and reproduction (Mehri, 2009)

In fact, committing the unlawful acts that according to the religions and customary rules, each one has a particular punishment is divided into 3 categories.

- A. Injuring public decency
- B. Violation of chastity
- C. Rape

Preventions of crimes and the status of judiciary in it

Independent branch that supports individual and social rights, fulfils justice, addresses and issues the orders about grievances, eliminates settlement, resuscitate the public law, promotes justice, legitimates freedoms, supervise law enforcement, detects crimes, prosecutes offenders, punishes offenders, execute god limits and takes an appropriate action in the prevention of crime and corrects offenders that this requires one strong and rich penal system to implement them (safari, 2001).

(Prevention) is one fundamental axis for delinquency strategies prevention versus punishments is a new connects with the evolution of customs and life methods.

Prevention includes a series of criminal political strategies is on the basis of penal system strategies that limits the possibility of criminal action (Taremi, 2008)

Social prevention

Reform or social prevention includes the set of policies and to eliminate or neutralize the causes and factors in the development of the underlying crime. The purpose of this type of prevention is to safe the community in such to prevent the occurrence of the initial crime and also the recurrence of crime.

Situational crime prevention

This type of prevention will result along with the social prevention. This includes a set of actions and policies that tends to the domination on the environments and the situations surrounding crime and its inhibition.

The role of marriage in the prevention of marriage:

Sexual instinct not only can be the cause of artistic drawings but also caws some crimes. The various environmental, family and social factors originate from the type of sexual deviances.

Although some of these deviations are individual issues, but most of them have social combating with this class of injuries requires social fundamental change and it is necessary overall evolutions and precise planning's resolve them. By presenting social widespread teachings for people and families and resolving fundamental factors, these changes will be possible. This class of deviations often has close relation with other harms and sometime courses serious problems such as AIDS that relates to sexual deviations.

One of these strategies is to promote temporary marriage at social; it can prevent problems and issues (Yousefi, 2003).

MATERIALS AND METHODS

Analysis as the process of the scientific method is one of the fundamental bases of each methodology. In general, analysis includes the way in with the research process from the purpose of this research and description: in strategies is the population that is described by two ways, by census of all elements of society and computing parameters that descriptive statistics will be used such as statistical estimation and by pothouses test 10

As descriptive statistics:

Descriptive statistics is used to describe data including frequency table, mean, and standard deviation

Inferential statistics:

In this research to answer research questions, chi-square test, one-sample t test and one-way variance analysis test were used. It should be noted that all statistical calculation were performed by software spss, version 19.

The independent variable is the default variable and the dependent variable is measured and determined according to its changes in the test research the independent variable is manipulated by the researcher to determine its effects on the dependent variable changes. In this research, dependent variable is temporary marriage. The dependent variable changes. In this research, dependent variable is temporary marriage.

The dependent variable is one that its value depends on the independent variable. The researcher is not responsible for dependent variable and the researcher cannot manipulate ar alter it (narimani, 2009)

In this study, dependent variable is the prevention of crimes against public decency.

Analysis:

H1: there is a significant relationship between the temporary marriage and prevention of crimes against public decency.

Table1. the result of descriptive statistics of the relationship between temporary marriage and prevention of crimes against public decency

Options	the number of observations	the expected number
Low	17	50
Average	54	50
A lot	127	50
So much	2	50
Total	200	200

The findings of above table show that 17 persons answered to low choice, 54 persons answered to high choice and 2 persons answered to a lot of choice.

Table 2. the results of chi-square test about the relationship between temporary marriage and the prevention of accordance of crime against public decency relationship between temporary marriage and the prevention of accordance of crime against public decency

Chi	186.76
Degrees of freedom	3
Sig	0.000

From the result of the above table, it is identified that because the computed chi-square test (186, 76) with freedom degree 3 at level 99% is significant thus, we can conclude that there is a relationship between temporary marriage and the prevention of crimes against public decency to high degree (64%).

H2: there is a difference in committing the crimes against public decency according to the experience of temporary marriage.

Table 3. the result of descriptive statistics of committing crimes against public decency according to the exportable of temporary marriage

Standard deviation	mean	number	broken marriage	Variables
4.40	20.28	68	No history	Crimes chastity
3.50	27.26	45	Single
3.12	28.08	36	Twice
4.12	29.12	27	Three times
2.40	28	24	More than 4 times

Table 4. the result of one-way variance analysis of committing the crimes against public decency according to the experience of temporary marriage

sig	f	df	Sum of squares, mean square	Sum of squares, mean square	Group	Variables
0.012	15.10	4	36.03	164.10	Between groups	Crimes chastity
		195	30.15	9206.20	Intergroup
		199		9370.40	Sum

The above table indicates that the calculated equal to 15/10 with freedom degree 4 and 195 at level 99% is significant, namely committing the crimes against public decency is not same according to the experience of temporary marriage. The results show that the people who didn't have the history of temporary marriage, they have been more committed to the crimes against public decency.

H3: temporary marriage is a suitable predictor for social prevention of crimes.

Table 5. the results of descriptive statistic of predictor role of temporary marriage for social prevention

Options	the number of observations	the expected number
Low	47	50
Average	93	50
A lot	50	50
So much	10	50
Total	200

(Choice), 93, (medium), 50 (high), 10 (very much) answered about the predictor role of temporary marriage for social prevention.

Table 6. the results of chi-square test about the predictor role of temporary marriage for social prevention temporary marriage

Chi	111.80
Degrees of freedom	3
Significance level	0.000

Accordinging: to the results of above table it is identified that because the calculated chi-square (111, 80) with freedom degree 3 at level 99% is significant. Therefore, it can be concluded, temporary marriage can partially (46%) predict social prevention.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

H1: there is a significant relationship between temporary marriage and prevention of crimes against public decency.

The result of data analysis showed that because the calculated chi-square is significant with freedom degree 3 at level 99%, therefore we can conclude that temporary marriage related to the prevention of crimes against 99% confidence that there is a significant relationship between temporary marriage and prevention of crimes against public decency. These results show that temporary marriage and its promoting at society can prevent crimes. Thus, this hypothesis is confirmed.

H2: there is a significant difference between the persons with a history of temporary marriage and those who have not experienced temporary marriage in terms of committing the crimes against public decency.

The result indicates that the calculated f (15, 10) with freedom degree 4 and 195 at level 99% is signification, namely according the temporary marriage experience. The results show that those who have not experienced temporary marriage, they have been more committed to the crimes against public decency.

H3: temporary marriage is a good predictor for social prevention of crime. The result indicated that the calculated chi-square (111, 80) is significant with freedom level 3 at level 99% therefore it can be concluded that temporary marriage can partially (46 percent) predict social prevention.

From these result it can be noted that one of the ways of organizations for prevention of crimes against public decency can be the promoting of temporary marriage can be one of the various models of social prevention. Therefore, the third hypothesis is confirmed.

Discussion of results

According to the results of hypotheses, it can be concluded that Iran population drive from traditional towards modern.

Thus, temporary marriage can be established at modern society.

The suitable patterns and advertisements can be effective to promote it. The existence of sexual desires in humans can't be denied and this need must be met by positive and constructive from. One of these constrictive routes can be temporary marriage that is justified according to religions rules and social norms and there is no legal or normative obstacle for it. We can refer to the direct relationship between prevention of crime and temporary marriage.

Research suggestions:

According to the confirmations of research hypotheses and the existence of significant relationship between variables, given that there was a correlation between variables, it is recommended:

1. Identifying mental needs and quality of meeting these needs are very effective at happiness and when they don't in to deviation.
2. Aware families to control more their children and alert them about the punishment of crimes.
3. Coordinate public and private sectors that are active in the field of prevention of crimes: such as police, labar and social affairs, education, municipalities, councils, youth affairs, welfare so on to implement preventive action plans and more coordination.

Promote temporary marriage as a preventive solution of crimes against public decency and facilitate the culture of simple marriage.
